Message from the Medical Director

Caring for the caregivers; supporting you while you care for your patients.

By: David Rzeszutko, MD, MBA
Vice President, Medical and Clinical Operations

We talk often about improving patient care, but little is said about caring for the caregivers. According to the 2024 Medscape Physician Burnout and Depression Report, 49% of physicians say they feel burned out and 20% say they struggle with depression. We deeply value you and work hard to do our part to support you as you positively impact the lives of patients. Here's what this looks like in practice.

The right people. We believe in curating a team that can speak on behalf of the provider experience. Recently, we welcomed our new Chief Medical Officer, Dr. Elif Oker. Dr. Oker has experience with the payer and provider side of health care, along with a passion for collaboration and connecting with our communities. We're confident her experience will drive our mission to improve health, instill humanity and inspire hope.

The right programs. 2024 has been a year of refining and implementing programs that help our members get the care they need when they need it and support you in your efforts to deliver high-quality care. With our newest authorization programs going live this September - cardiology and MSK surgical care with TurningPoint and radiation oncology with EviCore – we look forward to supporting you through enhanced peer-to-peer engagement and optimized patient outcomes.

The right mindset. We recognize the relationship between payers and providers is complex. We're committed to strengthening this relationship through open dialogue. Your input is truly valued and used to inform our policies and programs. Please continue sharing your experiences with us. We take feedback through our: Medical Affairs Committee meetings, Pharmacy and Therapeutics Committee meetings, Joint Operating Committee (JOC) meetings and Provider Network Leadership Forum (PNLF) meetings. You can also email me or our Vice President of Provider Strategy and Solutions, Heather Watkowski, directly. We want to hear from you.

As we move into the second half of 2024, we're committed to working alongside you to improve the health and lives of your patients, our members . Thank you for all you do.

Billing & Coding Tips

Using provider inquiries, issues and data from the past quarter our Provider Resolutions and Medical Code Review teams put together this list of tips to save you time and energy with your claims and more.

#1. Include a refund form with overpayment checks.

When sending a refund check to us for an overpayment, it's important that you also include a completed refund form. This completed form allows us to apply the refund to the correct claim overpayment.

When are refund checks necessary?

We'll send a letter requesting repayment in the following cases:

- Professional providers: $200+ overpayment
- Facility providers: $5,000+ overpayment

For overpayments less than the amounts listed above, we'll make the necessary corrections and adjustments on a future remittance advice

Where can you find the refund form?

Download a fillable and printable refund form or find it linked in our Provider Manual.

#2. Follow ICD-10 guidelines and code to the highest degree of specificity.

As a reminder, when billing for both professional and facility services, it's important to code to the highest level of specificity

At Priority Health, we use several coding and billing resources to align correct coding guidelines for accurate claims processing. This includes criteria defined by ICD-10 coding guidelines.

See our General Coding Policy, available on the Billing & coding policies page in our Provider Manual, for details.

#3. Submit one inquiry per claim issue.

When the same issue is affecting multiple claims, you should submit a claim review request for one of the impacted claims, indicating in your submission that the issue is impacting multiple claims. Ask your third-party billing companies (TPBs) to do the same.

Submitting multiple inquiries for the same issue can result in delayed and redundant responses.

#4. Sign up for electronic remittance advices.

If your group isn't already signed up for electronic remittance advices (ERAs), we highly recommend you do so. Note ERAs are separate from electronic fund transfers (EFTs) and must be set up separately.

ERAs are stored in Filemart for 365 days before they're archived. Get more information in our Provider Manual.

Tip: Please also make sure your TPBs have appropriate access to your remittance advices. Your group's prism security administrator (pSA) can grant access.

#5. Use self-service tools in prism.

Our prism provider portal has several self-service tools you can use to get your questions answered:

- Claims tool: See detailed claim denial reasons (more specific than what's shared on the 835 file), access a member's entire date of service to identify claim submissions, access front-end rejected claims, contact our Provider Resolutions team for critical post-claim and post-payment issues
- Authorizations tool: Request an authorization, submit an inquiry on an authorization that was requested
- Member inquiry: See a member's eligibility and benefits
- General Requests tool: Submit inquiries to our team that aren't claim-specific (i.e., authorization changes, pending claims, upfront rejections, contracting, gaps in care / incentive programs, website tools). See all inquiries submitted by any team member with access to your provider group/facility.

#6. Bookmark our Billing & Coding Policies page.

There you'll find a growing series of medical claims payment policies detailing billing, coding and reimbursement guidelines.

These policies are intended to help you:

- Bill claims more accurately
- Reduce processing delays
- Avoid rebilling
- Reduce requests for additional information

The DBM program preliminary payment incentive settlement

Our 2024 DBM program preliminary payment incentive settlement will go out in August. All providers that were able to see a minimum of 70% of their attributed patients before May 31, 2024 will receive this incentive. Payments will be distributed at the ACN level.

The new OIG toolkit can help you identify high-risk diagnosis codes and decrease improper Medicare Advantage payments

To ensure accurate patient documentation and proper reimbursement, the Office of the Inspector General (OIG) released a toolkit designed to help providers identify and evaluate high-risk diagnosis codes. This toolkit can help improve the accuracy of submitted diagnoses that are high risk for being miscoded.
